JP Colin Design

I need the assistance of an experienced Social Media Manager/Online Marketer to help me build my business and publicize my crowdfunding efforts online. I am looking for a long-term partnership with someone experienced in Social Media Management and Online Marketing to help me build my business. I am not able to pay up front, so I am looking to offer a revenue-sharing option to anyone that might be interested in working with me. I have merchandise and crowdfunding efforts both in place and under development, and a scalable business in the works.

Anyone interested should be aware that I will be looking to work on a formal basis, and to offer a negotiable revenue-sharing option to anyone whose qualifications and ambitions match with my business imperatives. A formal contract will be negotiated, and formal safeguards established to protect both myself and any partners in my venture.
